Introduction to the Johnson Family

Step into the cozy world of the Johnsons. Meet Mom, Dad, and the twinkle-eyed twins, Maya and Carter. Each page brings a new memory to cherish, from the first snowfall to the twinkling Christmas tree.

Discover the Johnson family's unique traditions

Prompt: What's your favorite holiday tradition?

The First Snowfall

A gentle snow starts to fall, covering the yard in white. Dad builds a snowman while Mom wraps warm blankets around the twins. They laugh as they decorate the snowman with handmade signs: 'Merry Christmas, Johnson Family!'

Draw the snowman with the family

Prompt: Who else is in the snow scene?

Decorating the Tree

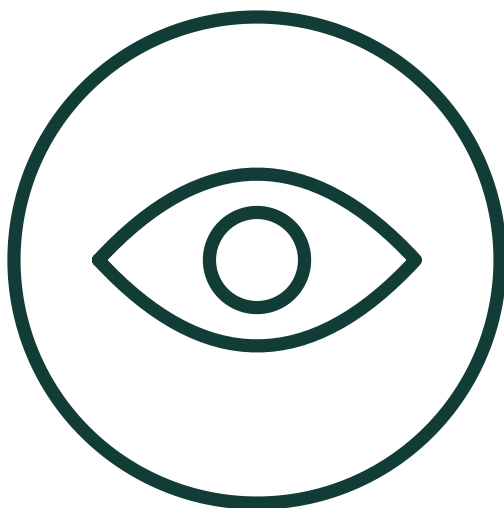

Up on the ladder, Dad and Maya work together to hang ornaments. Carter and Mom watch from the floor, holding onto each other as they sip hot chocolate. The tree sparkles, filled with memories and laughter.

Add your own sparkles to the tree

Prompt: What's your favorite ornament?

Family Dinner

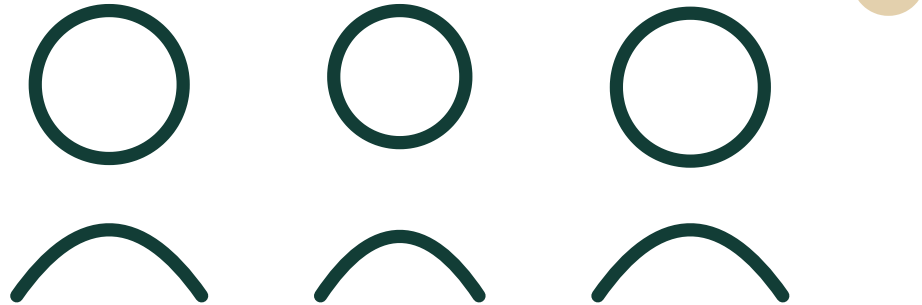

The Johnsons sit down to a feast of home-cooked meals. Chicken pot pie, cranberry sauce, and homemade rolls. Mom and Dad share stories about the past year, and the twins giggle at silly Christmas jokes. A moment of pure family joy.

Color in the dinner scene

Prompt: What food do you see on the table?

The Night Before Christmas

As the clock strikes midnight, the family gathers in the living room. Maya and Carter share their Christmas wishes, and Mom reads them a special story. Dad places the stockings around the fireplace, and they all head to bed with hearts full of love.

Finish the night with a family hug

Prompt: What's your Christmas wish?
